

Sinclair Broadcasting needs to be stopped. Their decision to air an anti-John Kerry documentary days before the election clearly is in violation of fair play -- it is a political ad, not "news," and should be deemed in violation of federal election law and FCC regulations. They are using the public airwaves to further their smear campaign against John Kerry, and will apparently stop at nothing in order to force their way, or the highway. It's an outrage! If this is what it has come down to, then Sinclair should be forced to broadcast "Going Upriver: The Long War of John Kerry."

I am disgusted.
